LS v PS v Q [2021] EWHC 3508 (Fam) – Roberts J

- Q (Level) applied to intervene in FR proceedings on 18th February 2021 (granted that day) as had lent W £1m and W was not paying
- FR proceedings previously concluded after contested hearing in 2016 before Parker J. in which W received £3m intended to meet housing and income needs and liabilities (H's assets £9m)
- H appealed that Order (and also subsequent Children Act applications resulting in 'live' with' order to H)
- W applied to Q (Level) for funding for these later FR proceedings and owed £630k plus interest accruing.
- Following private FDR in February 2021 settlement reached (both parties represented with H paying for W's as funding limit had been reached, but W then became a LIP due to conflict arising).

LS v PS v Q [2021] EWHC 3508 (Fam) – Roberts J

- Agreement provided that FMH was to be transferred to H
- H was to provide W with £1m for housing but on a life interest
- W's income claims dismissed.

- When Q found out about terms in February 2021, it contacted ct and H's solicitors stating that it was applying to be joined.
- On that same day, H's legal team contacted the allocated s9 judge via Chambers and clerk with draft consent order.
- Nothing sent through the Court and judge not told that Q objected to making of Order and nor were Q told that draft had been sent to judge

LS v PS v Q [2021] EWHC 3508 (Fam) – Roberts J

- On 2nd March judge e-mailed his clerk that order approved and could be lodged.
- Order then arrived at Court office and sealed on 16th March 2021.
- Q (Level) only found out when H sought to have their joinder set aside
- On 17th March 2021, a temporary stay on the terms of the Order granted and freezing injunction on parties.
- Q (Level) alleged that failure to inform the judge of their involvement and joinder and its objection to finalising of the Order was deliberate and a breach of duty of disclosure to an existing party to proceedings

LS v PS v Q [2021] EWHC 3508 (Fam) – Roberts J

- Q (Level) alleged that as a legitimate creditor it was bypassed and W (with H's knowledge and support) was left with no means to meet the debt to them
- Q (Level) sought disclosure of privileged material that had been produced for private FDR and they wished to use that material in the substantive set aside application and in their claims under the Insolvency Act against W.
- Roberts J. in considering that application ruled privileged material should remain subject to the FDR privilege (PD9A para 6.2).
- Roberts J. also commented that it would be artificial to distinguish such between Court FDR and Private FDR

LS v PS v Q [2021] EWHC 3508 (Fam) – Roberts J

- Roberts J. also commented that the FPR may need to be reconsidered in this regard in light of the importance of litigation funding and the issues raised in this case
- PD9A r6.2 provides:
- "….evidence of anything said or of any admission made in the course of an FDR appointment will not be admissible in evidence, except at the trial of a person for an offence committed at the appointment or in the very exceptional circumstances indicated in Re: D [1993] Fam 231."

Simon v Simon [2022] EWFC 29 & 35 – Nicholas Cusworth QC (DHCJ)

- By this stage, H's application to set aside consent order had been conceded by H and he suggested as no dispute between H and W then Q (Level) could pursue civil remedies against W and no nexus between Level's claims against W and the FR proceedings and therefore joinder not applicable.
- Level argued that parties had colluded so as to effectively make their claim unenforceable.
- Nicholas Cusworth QC granted Level's application for joinder and highlighted the two key principles in considering joinder:

Simon v Simon [2022] EWFC 29 & 35 – Nicholas Cusworth QC (DHCJ)

1. The overriding objective; and

2. Enabling parties to be heard if their rights may be affected by a decision

- Nicholas Cusworth QC observed that FPR r9.26B was similar to CPR r19.2(2) and therefore required similar interpretation.
- Level's rights were unquestionably capable of being affected by the terms of the consent order
- In addition, a third party who is directly affected by an order may have it set aside or varied (CPR r40.9)

PUMP COURT
CHAMBERS

Litigation Funding

Simon v Simon [2022] EWFC 29 & 35 – Nicholas Cusworth QC (DHCJ)

- Nicholas Cusworth declined to re-seal the consent order without considering the consequences on Level and whether these were intended by W and H
- Level's civil claim transferred to the Family Court and to be determined after the FR application
- Further updating disclosure was required to enable the Court to discharge its duty
- Level would be entitled to disclosure within the proceedings but subject to an implied undertaking not to use the documents for any collateral purpose.
- If at conclusion of the FR proceedings, the civil proceedings cannot be disposed of then availability of documents for any civil proceedings may become an issue.

Xanthopoulos v Rakshina [2022] EWFC 30 – Mostyn J.

- Two elements to this:
  - H sought a LSPO; and
  - W sought release from u/t to preserve sums held by her in a bank account (c£11m).
- Previously H had applied for and granted a LSPO for £750k intended to take him to hearing to determine jurisdiction in Children Act proceedings and the divorce and mediation
- The day before this hearing H's solicitors had come off the record
- H sought an order to meet his solicitors o/s costs (c£250k) & to cover future costs (c£673k) for appeal in Children Act proceedings and to conclusion of first appointment in Part III MFPA 1984 proceedings

Xanthopoulos v Rakshina [2022] EWFC 30 – Mostyn J.

- Mostyn J. observed that H had significantly overspent the award intended to take him to end of first appointment
- Generally a LSPO should only be made in respect of o/s costs to solicitors where without that payment those solicitors would likely cease to act.
- Since H's solicitors had come off the record the court could not make any award in respect of their costs
- Even if H's solicitors had stayed on the record, he doubted whether any substantive award in respect of o/s costs would have been made.

PUMP COURT

Xanthopoulos v Rakshina [2022] EWFC 30 – Mostyn J.

- As solicitors had come off the record, H would have to instruct new solicitors and make a fresh application but in any event, it would be unlikely to make any award for future costs for H.
- Ct accepted that there it may be possible to seek a payment where basis of previous award had been undermined by a change of circumstances but only if scrutinised carefully.
- Ct also accepted it may be possible to make an order to fund an appeal but it would be exercised extremely cautiously particularly where permission to appeal had not yet been granted
- Any application for further funding would always be considered against the consequences of previous overspending and such could lead to a refusal

Richardson-Ruhan v Ruhan & Others) [2021] EWFC 6 – Mostyn J

- If person had capacity to understand that which needed to be understood, there would be no reason for litigation friend.

Circular argument

- If interpreted literally then it would suggest that in the absence of legal advice and representation, then party would be legally incapacitated and court then obliged to appoint litigation friend.
- If litigation friend then appointed representation, party would then have capacity, in which case litigation friend would then be unnecessary.
- In addition, if capacity depended on representation then quantum and quality of such would be difficult to investigate

Guidelines on adjournment for medical reasons:

- Settled law that evidential requirements which should be met for adjournment to be advanced are:
  - The medical adviser should identify themselves and provide details of their familiarity with the party's medical condition (detailing all recent consultations)
  - Should identify with particularity what the medical condition was and the features of that condition which (in their opinion) prevented participation in the proceedings
  - Should include reasoned prognosis
  - Should give the Court some confidence that what was being expressed was an independent opinion after a proper examination

- Not usually necessary to have expert evidence as to earning capacity (Buehrlen v Buehrlen) [2017] EWHC 3643 (Fam).
- If evidence that relevant party has unreasonably chosen not to find/take up employment and/or not exploit their earning capacity then ct can make a pps order based on what it reasonable for them to be earning (Joy v Joy-Morancho [2015] EWHC 2507 (Fam)

Outcome

- As H would lose benefits if W paid pps and W did not have surplus beyond needs- immediate clean break

BUT in relation to pensions:

- Long marriage, H prioritised W's career and earning potential over his own.
- Whilst H is not entitled to a share of W's future earnings he did not have same opportunity as W to build up pension
- Responsibilities generated during marriage has generated need

Helpful commentary:

"It is an elementary principle that a claimant of periodical payments must meet her needs from her own resources, including her non-matrimonial resources, before a call is made on her ex-husband's resources…

It scarcely needs to be stated that her ex-husband's resources will by then be non-marital either because they represent his share of marital assets already divided or because they are post-divorce earnings."

Helpful commentary:

"In my judgment, the practice of leaving a nominal order in place as an insurance policy is contrary to the parliamentary instruction in s25A MCA 1973. Under s25A the court is required to exercise its discretion so as to bring about a termination of financial dependence unless it is satisfied that to do so would lead to the claimant suffering undue hardship…."

Periodical Payments

A V M [2021] EWFC 89 – Mostyn J

Helpful commentary:

"To leave a nominal order in place because events may happen which might lead to the claimant suffering hardship is not consistent with the terms of s25A. The court has to do its familiar work of peering into the future and making factual findings. If it is satisfied it is more likely than not that the claimant will not suffer undue hardship if her claim for periodical payments were dismissed, then the court should have the courage of its convictions and dismiss the claim with a s25A(3) direction. It is contrary to principle to make an order requiring the respondent to act as a potential insurer in respect of remote risks which might eventuate years after the ending of the marriage."

Enlargement of nominal orders

AJC v PJP [2021] WLUK 566 - DDJ Hodson

Comprehensive analysis of the history of nominal orders

- More a device than an order
- Not sure it appears in any other jurisdiction
- Creates much ill feeling from the paying party as a sword of Damocles
- Many authorities on substantive orders varied up or down
- Considered by DDJ as an order which hasn't kept up with changes in clean break requirements
- Anecdotally, may be a London and South-East centric order

In what circumstances would they be made and then generally might they be expected to be converted

- Where children are living primarily with one parent who is able to support themselves but children are relatively young and things may change dramatically during their minority
- Anecdotally, may be a London and South-East centric order
- Rare to exist outside of childcare responsibilities and beyond those years
- Now being made less often
- Also DDJ's view that gender bias and only a few cases where fathers with primary care have nominal order

Enlargement of nominal orders

AJC v PJP [2021] WLUK 566 - DDJ Hodson

- One case on point was North (2007) EWCA 760 in which nominal order made in 1981 (before 1984 clean break provision introduced) and W applied to enlarge in 2004
- Anecdotally practice is that enlargement only if there is a major and dramatic change in circumstances of childcare and ability to look after children.
- Invariably child centred
- Not, in DDJ's experience a provision to protect a spouse for many years in their own right ("a clash with the clean break imperative")
- Strong emphasis in case law now is that variations should be linked to the paying party or at least the marital disadvantage

PUMP COURT

Enlargement of nominal orders

AJC v PJP [2021] WLUK 566 - DDJ Hodson

- In instant case, W sought, in early 2021, to enlarge an order made in 2012 for a short term until she could again be self sufficient
- Is a nominal order a financial emergency fund to call upon during hard times, perhaps unexpected exceptional hard times?
- Is this the intention in law?

CHAMBERS

Enlargement of nominal orders

AJC v PJP [2021] WLUK 566 - DDJ Hodson

- W suggested DDJ should consider application as if ordinary variation application (as if £800pm increased to £900pm)
- DDJ disagreed
- Whilst s31 must be considered, variation of a nominal order has intrinsically a huge difference.
- In a substantive maintenance order case, both parties aware that may go up or down (if payer's income increases or payee's income reduces) which encourages capitalisation in many cases and thus clean break- an expected state of flux
- In variation of nominal order cases, different factors:
  - Could be a significant change
  - It's not budgeted for
  - Nowhere is it specified the circumstances when it may be enlarged, which adds to uncertainty- parties are entitled to know when particular payment requirement will kick in

CHAMBERS

Enlargement of nominal orders

AJC v PJP [2021] WLUK 566 - DDJ Hodson

- In instant case, DDJ observed a nominal order made by consent when youngest was aged 6 in circumstances where youngest is now aged 14 and W has been self sufficient for some years and where change in circumstances is the economic impact of the worldwide pandemic is not a appropriate and reasonable justification for enlarging order.
- Misfortune and unexpected developments in life is the nature of life
- Sometimes those factors arise from, are compounded by or accentuated from the foundation or circumstances of a past relationship.
- DDJ observed that in those circumstances, he could see that there might be justification for enlargement.
- Might be an argument if work position of receiving party significantly disadvantaged through relationship and so at higher risk of losing job
- DDJ was asked to dismiss nominal order but declined to do so as order will come to end in four years and unless something very substantial occurs soon then he could not see any basis for enlargement but written judgment produced to be available for the future. <>

- Obligation arose informally and terms do not have feel of commercial arrangement

Conclusions

- Debt owed by W is soft and most unlikely that required to be repaid notwithstanding contemporaneous loan document
- H's debt to mother falls into same category (and ct satisfied that H & M would be content to regard as an advance on inheritance)
- £150k paid to M would be added back to H's assets
- Not right for ct to raise H's debt to hard debt status simply because repaid as to do so would be to reward and encourage manipulative behaviour

Modest Assets, Need & Life Impairment

ND v GD [2021] EWFC 53 - Peel J

- Three factors of particular relevance
  - 23 year marriage
  - Bulk of assets were non matrimonial
  - W's diagnosis would have significant effect on her life expectancy and medical needs during remaining years
- Needs are an elastic concept
- S.25(2)(e) does not limit consideration of a health condition to that which is causally linked to marriage and diagnosed prior to separation [NB cf SS v NS per Mostyn J re spousal support]
- When capitalising income needs, there has to be a very good reason for departing from Duxbury (albeit tool not a rule)

Modest Assets, Need & Life Impairment

ND v GD [2021] EWFC 53 - Peel J

  - Consultant old age psychiatrist to report on life expectancy
  - Financial adviser to provide bespoke calculations on sum required to meet W's needs. [Producing 5 reports, 3 replies to Qs and evidence extending to 450 pages!!)
- Peel J considered that exercise of instructing financial adviser had been of negligible value

- Final FR Order dividing assets as to £4.75m (58%) to H and balance to W
- H to pay W £950k in series of 5 lump sums 2019 to 2023
- Departure was as a result of business started by H prior to the marriage and element of risk (with H retaining).

Barder conditions:

Covid-19 as a reason to revisit orders

BT v CU [2021] EWFC 87 - Mostyn J

As to Mostyn J's fifth condition (alternative relief available)

- Possibility of application to vary or stay the executory order but concerns raised by Mostyn J as to such
- Thwaite does not support proposition that there is an equitable power not merely to refuse to enforce an executory order but to make a completely different order.
- Any application should be approached extremely cautiously and conservatively.

PUMP COURT

Variation of orders

BT v CU [2021] EWFC 87 - Mostyn J

Observation by Mostyn J.:

- Power to extend time to comply with an executory order or to stay its execution for a limited short period.
- No power to vary capital awards as to overall quantum and thus no power to award a permanent stay let alone power to replace lump sum order with alternative provision.
- On facts of instant case, in light of uncertainty of Thwaite relief being available, then not something open to H

CHAMBERS

Variation of Capital awards

BT v CU [2021] EWFC 87 - Mostyn J

Observation by Mostyn J.:

- Even though specified as a series of lump sums, it would be open to H to vary such on the basis that in reality it was a lump sum by instalments!!
- Recommendation by Law Commission in 1969 was that the variation of a lump sum order by instalments could not alter its overall quantum
- Thus in Mostyn J's view, only open to vary timing and size of instalments and not overall quantum.
- The cases that suggest otherwise have misread the statutory provisions. [NB in cases cited by Mostyn J. there was no actual variation of the overall quantum payable- save for one]

CHAMBERS

Variation of Capital awards

BT v CU [2021] EWFC 87 - Mostyn J

- NB Watch developments on this..

BT v CU [2021] EWFC 87 - Mostyn J

Additional observation by Mostyn J.:

"I no longer hold the view that financial remedy proceedings are a special class of civil litigation justifying a veil of secrecy being thrown over the details of the case in the court's judgment…it should be clearly understood that my default position from now on will be to publish financial remedy judgments in full without anonymisation, save that any children will continue to be granted anonymity. BT v CU [2021] EWFC 87 - Mostyn J

- Following on from this case, Mostyn J did grant anonymity in the case (as he also did in A v M (above)) as parties had a reasonable expectation that the hearing would preserve their anonymity and it would have been unfair to spring such a change of practice on them without forewarning.

Pensions

T v T [2021] EWFC B67 - HHJ Hess

- H sought to vary a PSO order made in 2015 from 40% to 17%
- Order was eventually perfected in May 2016 after a contested hearing
- After that hearing the pension administrators asked that Box F of the annex was completed to specify an external transfer as scheme did not permit internal transfers; W's solicitor duly complied
- In December 2016 the scheme announced that it was reducing CEs for external transfers meaning that the PSO would produce less than anticipated if transferred externally.

PUMP COURT

Pensions

T v T [2021] EWFC B67 - HHJ Hess

- As W (wrongly) believed that her only option was an external transfer, she made an application for a declaration that she was entitled to 40% of the unreduced CE and she applied for DA
- H applied for a stay on the DA and a variation of the PSO
- In April 2018, the scheme ended its policy of reducing CEs but this was not disclosed to W until March 2021 and so W then invited the Court to endorse the original PSO
- H pursued his application for a variation of PSO from 40% to 17% arguing that as trial judge, in offsetting, intended to give W a precise amount and as CE had increased significantly, that would necessarily reduce the required percentage

CHAMBERS

Pensions

T v T [2021] EWFC B67 - HHJ Hess

- Pension administrators also confirmed that during period when they reduced CEs, internal transfers were offered to avoid prejudice to former spouses
- HHJ Hess observed that there is power to vary a PSO but such should be used sparingly; he noted in this case
  - Nothing remarkable had happened since 2015/16 save CE has increased
  - There were three main reasons why the change in CE did not justify any variation

CHAMBERS

Pensions

T v T [2021] EWFC B67 - HHJ Hess

- There was a fundamental misunderstanding of what a CE in a defined benefit scheme represents (the price of providing the underlying benefits);and
- If the increase were to viewed as a windfall, then H had benefitted more as he had 60%; and
- It was predominantly H's actions which prevented PSO taking effect and he had not applied for DA (and actually delayed it)

- H was the author of his own misfortune and he allowed the 'moving target syndrome' to remain

PUMP COURT

Pensions

T v T [2021] EWFC B67 - HHJ Hess

- HHJ Hess highlighted that if a PSO takes effect whilst a scheme is adopting reduced CEs there is a regulatory lacuna and pension administrators might implement an external transfer.
- To avoid this practitioners should not tick the external transfer box
- PAG have recommended that this paragraph be removed from the Form P1
- In this case there was at the heart a lack of understanding that where a scheme is underfunded, the administrators cannot insist on an external transfer but must also offer an internal transfer on an unreduced basis

A v R [2021] EWFC B102 - DDJ Davies

Reminder of PAG report when considering 'utility'

- With pensions freedoms arguable utility adjustment had lost usefulness (in DC schemes and in part DB if transferred to DC) In needs cases less justification for utility adjustment
- If assets larger and non-pension holder has income and/or capital surplus to needs then utility adjustment may apply
- If claimant requires present capital to meet basic housing need then may weigh against utility adjustment
- Conversely if pension holder subject to offset may lose owner-occupied housing the utility adjustment may be applicable
- Closer parties are to retirement utility adjustment diminishes

NB PAG report suggests that anecdotal evidence is that pensions may have been excessively adjusted for utility

In the instant case, DDJ observed that:

- This is one of minority of cases in which offsetting other than by consent is appropriate
- In cases in which a partial offset is potentially sought by either party, the PODE should routinely provide a sliding scale of percentages to achieve adjustment of 0% through 40% (and perhaps beyond) in order that Ct once it has undertaken adjustment exercise may adjust the PSO percentage accordingly
- 18% PSO to W ordered with her retaining FMH
